

DanTermBank Workshop on users of knowledge-based resources

7 October 2013, Copenhagen, Denmark

http://dantermbank.cbs.dk/dtb_uk/nyheder/dtb_workshop_2013

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS:

We are very pleased to announce this call for abstracts for the DTB Workshop, which is held in Copenhagen, Denmark, and organized by the DanTermBank group at the Dept. of International Business Communication (IBC) at Copenhagen Business School.

TOPICS:

This workshop calls for presentations on topics concerning users of knowledge-based resources. We invite contributions for presentations and demonstrations related to the aspects of users of terminologies, term banks, ontologies, electronic dictionaries, including:

- User studies
- User characteristics
- User behaviour
- User modeling
- User adaption
- Usability assessment

During the workshop, authors will be able to share their research with scholars who will provide constructive comments about the presented research methods and results.

The workshop will begin with a presentation of the work on methods for target group oriented knowledge dissemination: An experimental approach is applied in an eye-tracking laboratory, where a natural user situation is replicated for potential professional end-users of a terminology and knowledge bank in a chosen pilot domain (taxation). The presentation will be given by Louise Pram Nielsen, member of the DanTermBank project team.

SUBMISSION INFORMATION:

* Presentation: Please submit a concise, max. 1 page abstract presenting research and studies on users of knowledge-based resources from various perspectives.

* Demonstration: Please submit a concise, max. 1 page description of a (running!) prototype, clearly showing how your technological innovation realizes user adaption.

Presentations and demonstrations will be given 30 minutes each.

Please send your abstract or description and your affiliation to Pia Lyngby Hoffmann, plh.danterm@cbs.dk

IMPORTANT DATES:

* Submission deadline for abstracts: 1 September 2013

* Notification of acceptance: 7 September 2013

* Workshop registration: 14 September 2013 – by e-mail to Pia Lyngby Hoffmann, plh.danterm@cbs.dk

Although registration is mandatory, participation in the workshop (including meals) is free of charge (there are no registration costs). All the remaining costs for travelling and accommodation should be payed by the participants.

DanTermBank:

The aim of the DTB project is to develop methods for automatic knowledge extraction, automatic construction and updating of ontologies, automatic merging of terminological data from various existing sources, as well as methods for target group oriented knowledge dissemination. The research carried out in the project is a prerequisite for establishing a national Danish term bank which can ensure development and quality of Danish LSP. The project is supported by the VELUX FOUNDATION.